Bio

I've spent my career crating exceptional digital experiences and elevating the relationship between design and engineering. With roots in both creative agencies and big product orgs, I've helped build digital experiences used by millions, always with a focus on front-end craft and sparking an emotional connection. Today, I lead world-class creative tech teams that push organizations towards a more design-led future - providing the vision, clarity and technical depth needed to drive meaningful transformation. Born in Pittsburgh PA, I now live in the PNW with my wife and 3 kiddos.

Education

BA Writing — University of Pittsburgh 2008

Experience

Sr. Design Technology Manager

2020 — current

eBay — I joined eBay to establish Design Technology as a core practice, building and leading a team of design-minded engineers to help the company explore ideas faster and strengthen the connection between design and engineering. A major achievement has been Evo, eBay's design system and brand language, which has transformed core product experiences and elevated the brand. From prototypes to production, vision to execution, my team has delivered immersive, motion-driven experiences while creating the workflows and tooling needed to scale them, driving more product evolution in the past few years than the previous decade.

Design Technologist

2019 — 2020

Amazon/Alexa — Worked on Design Technology initiatives at Amazon's Device Design Group (DDG), supporting Alexa's multi-modal expressions. Focus was on the Alexa Design System, Alexa Platform Language and creating a motion-driven experience.

Web Development Lead

2017 — 2019

GreenRubino — I led the Agency's web development offerings, managing a team of developers and designers to modernizing the firm's digital experiences. Notable clients; Kidder, Columbia Bank, Milliman, The NHL, Shake Shack

Head of Front-End Development

2014 — 2017

Urban Influence — Led interactive / front-end development for the Seattle-based firm, helping the agency win a multitude of Site of Day Awards (Awwwards, FWA, CSSDA), including runner up for Awwwards Small Agency of the Year. Notable clients: Quentin Tarantino, Formidable, Beechers, INRIX, Redfin, Watson, Chef'n, SeattleMet
